Directions for the following 2 (two) items:
Read the following passage and answer the items that follow the passage. Your answers to these items should be based on the passage only

Passage - 1

The demographic dividend, which has begun in India and is expected to last another few decades, is a great window of opportunity. The demographic dividend is basically a swelling in the working age population, which conversely means that the relative ratio of very young and very old will, for a while, be on the decline. From the experience of Ireland and China, we know that this can be a source of energy and an engine of economic growth. The demographic dividend tends to raise a nation's savings rate since in any nation, it is the working age population that is the main saver. And since the savings rate is an important driver of growth, this should help elevate our growth rate. However, the benefits of demographic dividend depend on the quality of the working age population. And this implies bringing back the importance of education, acquisition of skills and human capital.

परिच्छेद - 1

भारत में प्रारंभ हो चुका जनसांख्यिकीय लाभांश, जिसके अगले कुछ दशकों तक जारी रहने की उम्मीद है, एक बड़ा अवसर है। जनसांख्यिकीय लाभांश मूलतः कार्यशील आयु वर्ग की जनसंख्या में वृद्धि को दर्शाता है, जिसका अर्थ यह है कि युवा और वृद्ध लोगों का सापेक्ष अनुपात कुछ समय के लिए घटता रहेगा। आयरलैंड और चीन के अनुभव से हम जानते हैं कि यह ऊर्जा का स्रोत और आर्थिक विकास का इंजन बन सकता है। जनसांख्यिकीय लाभांश किसी राष्ट्र की बचत दर को बढ़ाने की प्रवृत्ति रखता है क्योंकि किसी भी राष्ट्र में कार्यशील आयु वर्ग ही मुख्य बचतकर्ता होता है और चूँकि बचत दर विकास का एक महत्वपूर्ण प्रेरक है, इसलिए यह हमारी विकास दर को बढ़ाने में सहायक होना चाहिए। हालांकि, जनसांख्यिकीय लाभांश के लाभ कार्यशील आयु वर्ग की जनसंख्या की गुणवत्ता पर निर्भर करते हैं। इसका अर्थ है शिक्षा, कौशल अर्जन और मानव पूंजी के महत्व को पुनः स्थापित करना।

Q.1) What was the main reason for the split in the Indian National Congress at Surat in 1907?
a) Introduction of communalism into Indian politics by Lord Minto.
b) Extremists' lack of faith in the capacity of the moderates to negotiate with the British Government.
c) Foundation of Muslim League.
d) Aurobindo Ghosh's inability to be elected as the President of the Indian National Congress.

Ans) b
Exp) Option b is the correct answer.
There was a fundamental difference between the political ideologies of the extremists' and moderates which led to their split at the Surat Session of Congress in 1907.
The veteran moderate politicians refused to accommodate the new extremist's trend within the Congress policies and programmes, and this led to the split in the Congress in its Surat session in 1907.
The Extremists, during the Swadeshi Movement, decided to give a call for wide passive resistance and boycott of schools, colleges, legislative councils, municipalities, law courts, etc.
The Moderates, encouraged by the news that council reforms were on the anvil, decided to tone down the scheme adopted at the Calcutta Session.
The Extremists thought that the people had been aroused and the time had come for direct confrontation with the British. They considered the Moderates to be a drag on the movement and no longer had faith in the capacity of the moderates to negotiate with the British Government.
They decided that it was necessary to Part Company with the Moderates, even if it meant a split in the Congress. On the other hand, the Moderates thought that it would be dangerous at that stage to associate with the Extremists whose anti-imperialist agitation would be ruthlessly suppressed by the mighty colonial forces.
Both sides adopted rigid positions, which ultimately led to split. The moderates after the Surat Split in 1907 demanded colonial self-government, as against the extremist demand of complete independence.

b) Both Statement I and Statement II are correct but Statement II does not explain Statement I
c) Statement I is correct but Statement II is not correct
d) Statement I is not correct but Statement II is correct

Ans) b
Exp) Option b is the correct answer
The Safety Valve Theory suggests that the Indian National Congress (INC) was founded in 1885 by A.O. Hume under British guidance to act as a "safety valve" for releasing growing political discontent among Indians.
Statement I is correct: Lala Lajpat Rai believed in the Safety Valve Theory regarding the establishment of the Indian National Congress. He argued that the British helped create the Indian National Congress (INC) in 1885 as a "Safety Valve" to allow Indians to express their grievances in a controlled manner, preventing them from turning to violent rebellion.
Statement II is correct:

Table 1 : Composition of the Members of Indian National Congress, 1885-1888

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?
a) I only
b) II only

c) Both I and II
d) Neither I nor II

Ans) a
Exp) Option a is the correct answer.
Statement I is correct: The British Indian Association was founded in Calcutta in 1851 by the zamindars of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and was among the earliest public organisations to mobilise people for a political cause. It was formed through the merger of the Landholders' Society and the Bengal British India Society, which had existed earlier in Calcutta.

Thus in 1852, the British Indian Association of Kolkata petitioned the British Parliament for establishment of a legislature in India possessing a popular character reflecting the growing political consciousness of the period. It was perhaps for the first time that Indian opinion was being expressed on the subject of legislative reforms.
It was the Poona Sarvajanik Sabha that sent a petition in 1875 to the British Parliament seeking India's direct representation in the British Parliament.

a) To expand the Governor General's executive council and all the non-official members of the council to be Indians.
b) To allow senior Indian magistrates to preside over criminal cases involving British or European subjects in India.
c) To allow the use of vernacular language in the proceedings of all cases in the Bengal presidency.
d) To implement the provision of the Factory Act, 1881 in tea plantations owned by Europeans.

Ans) b
Exp) Option b is the correct answer
The Criminal Procedure Amendment Bill or popularly called as the Ilbert Bill as it came to be called after the name of the Law member in Viceroy's council was in essence a measure putting Indian judges on the same footing as Europeans in dealing with all cases in the Bengal presidency.
The Ilbert Bill of 1883 sought to remove racial discrimination in the judicial system by allowing senior Indian magistrates to preside over criminal cases involving British or European subjects in India. Until then, Europeans could only be tried by European judges. The proposal triggered strong opposition from the European community in India, revealing the deep racial prejudices embedded in colonial governance.

Q.18) With reference to the early phase of the Indian National Congress, which of the following were the demands of Moderate leaders of the Congress?

I. Reduction in military expenditure of the colonial government.

II. Extension of the Permanent Settlement to areas under the Ryotwari and Mahalwari settlement.

III. Abolition of the salt tax.

Select the correct answer using the code given below:

a) I, II and III

b) I and II only

c) I and III only
d) II and III only

Statement II is correct: The early nationalists also demanded measures to reduce the burden of taxation on the peasantry, including the reduction of land revenue. The moderate leaders supported the extension of the Permanent Settlement to other areas i.e. areas under Ryotwari and Mahalwari settlement, believing that it could provide stability in land revenue and improve agricultural conditions.
Statement III is correct: Moderate leaders criticized the salt tax as an unjust and regressive levy that disproportionately affected the poor. They demanded its reduction or abolition, arguing that it imposed an unfair burden on basic consumption.

Q.19) In the context of the freedom struggle of India, consider the following statements :
Statement I: The discriminatory colonial economic policies favouring British manufacturers contributed to the growth of national consciousness in nineteenth-century India.
Statement II: During the tenure of Viceroy Lord Lytton, the import duties on cotton textiles were increased significantly.
Which one of the following is correct in respect of the above statements?
a) Both Statement I and Statement II are correct and Statement II explains Statement I
b) Both Statement I and Statement II are correct but Statement II does not explain Statement I
c) Statement I is correct but Statement II is not correct
d) Statement I is not correct but Statement II is correct

Ans) c
Exp) Option c is the correct answer.
Statement I is correct. The discriminatory economic policies of colonial rule gradually generated political consciousness among the emerging Indian capitalist class in particular and political leaders in general. Initially slow to develop nationalist sentiments, Indian industrialists increasingly realized that imperial policies in trade, tariffs, taxation, and transport severely restricted their growth while favouring foreign capital and British enterprises. Lacking state support and facing intense competition from well-resourced foreign investors, Indian capitalists began to see a clear contradiction between imperial interests and their own economic advancement. This realization reinforced the economic critique of colonialism advanced by early nationalists, particularly through the Drain of Wealth Theory, which argued that colonial rule systematically transferred India's resources abroad. Consequently, many Indian business leaders concluded that only a national government free from imperial control could create conditions necessary for the independent development of Indian trade and industry.
Statement II is incorrect: This discriminatory nature of colonial government came to the fore during the vice royalty of Lord Lytton when from 1876-80 most of the import duties on British textile imports were removed to please the textile manufacturers of Britain. This action was interpreted by Indians as proof of the British desire to ruin the small but growing textile industry of India. It created a wave of anger in the country and led to widespread nationalist agitation.

Q.20) Which of the following statements is correct regarding the Deputy Speaker of Lok Sabha?
a) The election of Deputy Speaker is held on such a date as the President of India may fix.
b) The Constitution of India does not prescribe any time limit within which the Deputy Speaker is to be elected.
c) The Deputy Speaker subscribes to a separate oath of office which is administered by the Speaker.
d) The Deputy Speaker can be removed through a resolution passed by a majority of the members of Lok Sabha present and voting.

Ans) b
Exp) Option b is the correct answer.
The post of Deputy Speaker in Lok Sabha is vacant since 2019. No Deputy Speaker was elected by Lok Sabha in the entire time period of Seventeenth Lok Sabha (2019-2024) and the post is lying vacant in 18th Lok Sabha also (since 2024).
Option a is incorrect. The Deputy Speaker is elected by the Lok Sabha itself from amongst its members. He is elected after the election of the Speaker has taken place. The date of election of the Deputy Speaker is fixed by the Speaker.
The Deputy Speaker is elected by the members of the Lok Sabha from among themselves by a simple majority (of those present and voting).
Conventionally, this position has been handed over to the Opposition, in order to develop harmony between the ruling party and the Opposition.
Option b is correct. Article 93 of the Constitution mandates that the Lok Sabha shall, as early as possible, elect two members from among itself to serve as the Speaker and Deputy Speaker.
While Article 93 provides for the election of the Deputy Speaker "as soon as may be", it does not set a timeline.
The position of the Deputy Speaker has been lying vacant for the last six years raising questions on constitutional adherence and democratic resilience.
Option c is incorrect. No separate oath is prescribed for the Deputy Speaker; the oath taken as a Member of Parliament (as per the Third Schedule of the Constitution of India) is sufficient.
Option d is incorrect. The Deputy Speaker may be removed from his office by a resolution of the House of the People passed by a majority of all the then members of the House. Such a resolution can be moved only after giving 14 days' advance notice.

Risley (Secretary to Government of India, 1903) and Andrew Fraser (Lieutenant Governor of Bengal, 1903), and finally sanctioned by Lord Curzon, the Viceroy (announced on 16th October, 1905). Sir A. Fraser and H.H. Risley were determined to use the plea for territorial readjustment to throttle the voice of nationalism.
Knowledge Base:
Reason for the Partition of Bengal:

- The official reason given for the decision was that Bengal with a population of 78 million had become too big to be administered.
- It was also stated that partition would help in the development of Assam if it came under the direct jurisdiction of the government.
- However, the real motive behind the partition plan was seen to be the British desire to weaken Bengal, the nerve centre of Indian nationalism.

b) 'Registration of births and deaths' falls under the Union List of the Seventh Schedule.
c) The events of birth and death must be registered at the place of occurrence of the event.
d) Normally, birth and death events have to be registered within 21 days of occurrence.

Ans) b
Exp) Option b is the correct answer.
Civil Registration System (CRS), popularly known as birth and death registration system, is the recording of vital events i.e. Birth, Death & Still Birth under the statutory provisions on a continuous and permanent basis.
Option a is correct. The Registration of Births and Deaths Act (RBD Act) was enacted in 1969 to promote uniformity and comparability in the registration of Births and Deaths across the country and compilation of vital statistics based thereon. With the enactment of the Act, registration of births, deaths, and stillbirths has become mandatory in India. The registration of birth and death is done under the provisions of this central Act namely Registration of Births and Deaths (RBD) Act, 1969. Under the provisions of RBD Act, 1969, the registration of birth and death is mandatory.
Option b is incorrect. Civil Registration System ("Vital statistics including registration of births and deaths") falls under the Concurrent list of the Constitution of India.

Option c is correct. The events of birth and death are registered at the place of occurrence of the event i.e. where the event took place. Q.43) What was the significance of August 7, 1905 in modern Indian history?

a) The British Government officially announced the Partition of Bengal.

b) The Partition of Bengal formally came into effect across the province.

c) The Swadeshi Movement was formally proclaimed at a public meeting in Calcutta Town Hall.

d) The famine in Bengal which led to the death of around 3 million people.

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is the correct answer.

The Partition of Bengal in 1905 triggered one of the most significant mass political movements of the early Indian national movement. Many Indians viewed the partition as a deliberate attempt by the British government to divide the Bengali population along communal lines and weaken the growing nationalist sentiment.

In response, nationalist leaders searched for new methods of political protest, moving beyond the earlier moderate strategy of petitions and appeals. This led to the emergence of the Swadeshi and Boycott Movement, which encouraged Indians to reject foreign goods and promote indigenous industries. The meeting held on 7 August 1905 became a landmark moment in this transformation.

On 7 August 1905, a mass public meeting was held at the Calcutta Town Hall. At this gathering, nationalist leaders and citizens resolved to boycott British goods and promote indigenous products.

This meeting is widely regarded as the formal beginning of the Swadeshi Movement. The movement soon spread across Bengal and other parts of India, encouraging economic self-reliance and political activism.

Q.44) With reference to the Calcutta Session of the Indian National Congress held in 1906, consider the following statements:

I. The session was presided over by Dadabhai Naoroji.

II. It declared Swaraj as the goal of Indian National Congress.

III. The session passed a resolution for the extension of the boycott of foreign goods beyond Bengal.

IV. A resolution to boycott elections to the legislative councils and law courts across the country was passed at this session.
Which of the statements given above are correct?
a) I, II and III
b) I, II and IV
c) I and II only
d) III and IV only

Ans) c
Exp) Option c is the correct answer.
The Calcutta Session of the Indian National Congress in 1906 represented an important turning point in the national movement. By this time, the influence of the Extremist leaders had grown significantly, especially after the Swadeshi agitation that followed the Partition of Bengal in 1905.
This session therefore became a moment of negotiation between the Moderates and the Extremists. While the Moderates continued to lead the Congress organisation, they had to acknowledge the rising nationalist mood among the people and the increasing appeal of the extremist political programme.
Statement I is correct. The 1906 Calcutta Session was presided over by Dadabhai Naoroji, one of the most respected nationalist leaders of the time. Both Moderates and Extremists accepted his leadership because of his long association with the national movement and his moral authority. His presidency helped temporarily prevent a direct confrontation between the two factions.
Statement II is correct. At this session, Dadabhai Naoroji declared Swaraj or self-government as the goal of the Indian National Congress. However, the meaning of Swaraj was not precisely defined. For the Moderates, it meant self-government within the British Empire, similar to dominions like Canada or Australia. The Extremists, on the other hand, interpreted it in a more radical and expansive sense.
Statement III is incorrect. The Extremist leaders wanted the boycott of foreign goods to be extended beyond Bengal to other provinces. However, the Moderates opposed such a wide expansion of the programme. As a result, this proposal was not accepted by the Congress, and the boycott programme remained limited in scope.
Statement IV is incorrect. After the Calcutta session, the Extremists called for wider passive resistance, including boycott of institutions such as councils and courts. However, the Congress did not officially adopt such a programme in the 1906 session. The Moderates were cautious and preferred to avoid direct confrontation with the colonial administration.

Q.45) Consider the following statements:
Under the Representation of the People Act of 1951, the Election Commission of India (ECI) has the power to de-register a political party on the ground that it has failed to:
I. contest any elections for ten consecutive years.
II. regularly conduct internal party elections.
III. conduct its affairs according to the Model Code of Conduct enforced during general assembly elections in the country.
Which of the statements given above is/are correct?
a) III only
b) II and III only
c) I only

d) None of the above

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is the correct answer.

The Representation of the People Act, 1951 does not confer explicit powers on the ECI to de-register any political party if it fails to contest elections, conduct inner-party elections or lodge requisite returns.

The Supreme Court in Indian National Congress versus Institute of Social Welfare & Ors (2002) had held that the ECI does not have the power to de-register any political party under the RP Act. It may de-register only under exceptional circumstances such as the registration being obtained by fraud or the political party ceasing to have allegiance to the Indian Constitution or if it is declared unlawful by the Government.

The Law Commission in its 255th report (2015) had recommended amendments for de-registration of a political party if it fails to contest elections for 10 consecutive years.

Directions for the following 2 (two) items:

Read the following passage and answer the items that follow the passage. Your answers to these items should be based on the passage only

Passage - 1

The demographic dividend, which has begun in India and is expected to last another few decades, is a great window of opportunity. The demographic dividend is basically a swelling in the working age population, which conversely means that the relative ratio of very young and very old will, for a while, be on the decline. From the experience of Ireland and China, we know that this can be a source of energy and an engine of economic growth. The demographic dividend tends to raise a nation's savings rate since in any nation, it is the working age population that is the main saver. And since the savings rate is an important driver of growth, this should help elevate our growth rate. However, the benefits of demographic dividend depend on the quality of the working age population. And this implies bringing back the importance of education, acquisition of skills and human capital.

Q.46) Which of the following would invariably happen in a country, when the demographic dividend has begun to operate?

1. The number of illiterate people will decrease.
2. The ratio of very old and very young will decrease for a while.
3. Population growth rate will quickly stabilize.

Select the correct answer using the code given below.

a) 1 and 2 only

b) 2 only

c) 1 and 3 only

d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is the correct answer

Statement 1 is incorrect: The passage does not state that the number of illiterate people will decrease as an immediate or direct effect of the demographic dividend.

Statement 2 is correct: The passage explains that the demographic dividend involves a swelling in the working age population and a decline in the ratio of very young and very old people for a while.

Statement 3 is incorrect: The passage does not discuss the stabilization of the population growth rate as an effect of the demographic dividend.

Q.47) With reference to the passage, which of the following inferences can be drawn?
1. Demographic dividend is an essential condition for a country to rapidly increase its economic growth rate.
2. Promotion of higher education is an essential condition for a country for its rapid economic growth.
Select the correct answer using the code given below.
a) 1 only
b) 2 only
c) Both 1 and 2
d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) d
Exp) Option d is the correct answer
Statement 1 is incorrect: The passage indicates that the demographic dividend can be a source of economic growth but does not state it is an essential condition for rapid economic growth. It suggests that demographic dividend provides an opportunity rather than a necessity.
Statement 2 is incorrect: While the passage emphasizes the importance of education, skills acquisition, and human capital to benefit from the demographic dividend, it does not claim that promotion of higher education alone is an essential condition for rapid economic growth. It implies a broader focus on education and skills rather than higher education alone.

Q.48) Jindal is a mathematician who likes to use his own mathematical symbols. In his notation system, the expression (x, y) represents x raised to the power y, and the expression p ! q represents the remainder obtained when q is divided by p. Using Jindal's notation, what is the remainder of the expression 2022 ! (2021, 2023)?
a) 2021
b) 2023
c) 2022
d) 2020

Ans) a Exp) Option a is the correct answer
Given
Jindal's notation defines:
• (x, y) → x raised to the power y
• p ! q → remainder when q is divided by p
Thus (2021, 2023) = $\mathbf{2021^{2023}}$
Therefore the required value is remainder when 2021^{2023} is divided by 2022
Express the Base in Terms of 2022
Observe that 2021 = 2022 – 1
Thus $2021^{2023} = (2022 - 1)^{2023}$
Write the Division Form
When dividing any number by 2022, it can be written as number = 2022 × quotient + remainder
Now 2022 – 1 = 2022 × 1 – 1
Thus 2021 = 2022 × 1 – 1
Raise to the Power
$2021^{2023} = (2022 \times 1 - 1)^{2023}$

When this expression is expanded, every term except the last contains 2022 as a factor, because each term will contain at least one 2022.
Therefore, those terms are completely divisible by 2022.
The only part that does not contain 2022 is the constant term that comes from multiplying −1 repeatedly.
Evaluate the Remaining Term
The remaining term is $(-1)^{2023}$
Since 2023 is an odd number $(-1)^{2023} = -1$
Thus $2021^{2023} = 2022 \times k - 1$ (for some integer k)
Determine the Remainder
If number = 2022k − 1 then when divided by 2022 remainder = 2022 − 1
remainder = 2021
Therefore, Option a is the correct answer.

a) M, K, M, L, L
b) M, L, M, K, L
c) K, M, L, M, L
d) L, K, M, M, K

Ans) a
Exp) Option a is the correct answer.
K L _ M L _ L _ K K M _ M K _ L K M
There are 5 blanks, and the letters used are only K, L, M.
Group the sequence into blocks of 3:
Block 1: K L _
Block 2: M L _
Block 3: L _ K
Block 4: K M _
Block 5: M K _
Block 6: L K M
Each 3-letter block is meant to be a distinct arrangement (permutation) of K, L, M.
There are exactly 6 permutations of (K, L, M), and 6 blocks.
Now complete each block so that it contains K, L, M exactly once:
Block 1: K L _ → missing M
Block 2: M L _ → missing K
Block 3: L _ K → missing M
Block 4: K M _ → missing L
Block 5: M K _ → missing L
Block 6: L K M → already complete
So the blanks (in order) are:
M, K, M, L, L

Q.50) What is the unit digit of the following expression?
$[(1! + 3! + 5! + \cdots + 99!) \times (2^1 \times 2^2 \times 2^3 \times \cdots \times 2^{10})] + 5^5$
a) 0
b) 1
c) 5
d) 7

An) b
Exp) Option b is the correct answer
Unit digit of (1! + 3! + 5! + ⋯ + 99!)
1! = 1 → unit digit 1
3! = 6 → unit digit 6
For every factorial from 5! onwards, the number ends in 0 (because it contains factors 2 and 5).
So 5!, 7!, 9!, ..., 99! all contribute 0 in the unit digit.
Therefore, the unit digit of the whole sum is:
unit digit of (1! + 3!) = 1 + 6 = 7
So, unit digit of (1! + 3! + 5! + ⋯ + 99!) = 7
Unit digit of $(2^1 \times 2^2 \times \cdots \times 2^{10})$
$2^1 \times 2^2 \times \cdots \times 2^{10} = 2$^(1+2+...+10)
1 + 2 + ... + 10 = 10×11/2 = 55
So the product becomes:
2^{55}
Unit digits of powers of 2 repeat in a cycle of 4:
2, 4, 8, 6
55 divided by 4 leaves remainder 3, so:
unit digit of 2^{55} = unit digit of 2^3 = 8
Unit digit of the product
Unit digit = 7 × 8 = 56, so unit digit is 6
Unit digit of 5^5
Any power of 5 ends in 5, so:
unit digit of 5^5 = 5
Final unit digit
Final unit digit = 6 + 5 = 11, so unit digit is 1
